Overview

Rich Goldberg has been described as a “brilliant attorney” who tenaciously litigates cases on behalf of clients. He regularly works on matters that involve commercial litigation, including defense of legal malpractice, real estate and product liability cases. Drawing on his extensive experience, Rich seeks to find creative solutions that effectively and expeditiously handle his clients’ legal problems so that they can focus on the growth and success of their businesses.

Rich’s success in the courtroom has been key to the firm’s overall growth, and his clients have benefitted from numerous favorable verdicts in multi-million dollar trials. Recently, Rich won an appeal for an insurance client by obtaining a reversal of judgment in a $1.5 million indemnity claim. His work in another case, a condemnation action, resulted in a $52 million award for land taken for the Denver International Airport. These are some of the many examples in which Rich’s litigation experience and tenacity have paid off for his clients.

During his four decades as an attorney, Rich has tried cases in all levels of courts in many states throughout the country, including Arizona, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, New York, California and Missouri. He received a law degree from the University of Denver and a bachelor’s degree from the University of Colorado.
