Overview

Robert E. M. Smith focuses his practice on civil litigation, business law, personal injury, and criminal defense. Having led hundreds of trials, he is an experienced trial litigator who serves clients in commercial, civil litigation, criminal prosecution and defense, personal injury and complex family law litigation. Robert is dedicated to providing exceptional client service by communicating each step of a case's approach, objective and procedure.

Prior to joining Renaud Cook Drury Mesaros, Robert was a senior litigation attorney for Gillespie, Shields, Durrant & Goldfarb. He served in the Office of the Maricopa County Attorney as assistant bureau chief. He's taught law at Arizona State University as a closing argument and jury selection instructor. He was involved with ASU's Barrett Honors College, where he helped prepare applicants for Marshall, Rhodes and Fulbright scholarships with mock interviews. Robert is also a former member of ASU's Advisory Board of Directors for the Department of English.

Additionally, Robert served the country as a United States Marine.
